Page Format

While no specific format is required, it is important to structure your paper clearly and logically. However, there must be at least one-inch margins on the top and bottom, with all text, charts, photographs, and code INSIDE the margins. The side margins must both be one and one quarter inch. This includes appendices of code (try using a copier to reduce material to make it fit). Lack of control over your formatter is NOT an excuse for failure to adhere to these rules. For pages of code, remember that there are good quality photocopiers available that will reduce your code so that it fits within the margins.

Foot-note:	Each page shall have a footnote giving the title of the project / thesis only. In case of long titles shorter versions should be used. There shall be a line over the footnote.
Chapter Startup:	Each chapter shall be numbered as Chapter 1, Chapter 2, etc. The name of the chapter shall be written immediately below. Both shall be centered horizontally as well as vertically. The actual chapter content shall start from the next page.
Text:	Only one side of the paper shall be used. The other side shall be blank. When a report is opened the right side would contain text, figures, or tables and the left side would be blank.

Tables and Figures: Each table / figure shall be numbered. For example "Table 1.2: Population distribution in Asia" or "Figure 3.2: Temperature distribution". The table number or figure number shall be placed as normal text centered at the bottom of the table or figure or sideways with table / figure title coming on the opening side of the paper and note on the binding side.

Line Spacing: 1.5 pts

Paragraph: Single spaced. Line entered paragraph. DONOT put indents at the beginning of the paragraph. Left aligned or justified.

Sections and Subsections

In case of sections and subsections follow this format:

Section 1

The subsequent reference to a any section shall be made using the section and its number. For example section 2.1.3 means chapter 2 section 1 subsection 3.
